

Manufacturing

Our technical translators know an alternator bearing from an altitude compensator, but our expertise stretches way beyond the automotive industry.

The Translation People have an outstanding track record in the provision of technical translation services for manufacturers worldwide with expertise in products from antennae to adhesives; air compressors to amplifiers.

Our expertise covers

- installation and maintenance manuals
- safety datasheets
- technical specifications
- plant/machinery installation guides
- technical product catalogues
- health and safety information
- quality procedures
- patents
- websites
- press releases
- promotional literature

The Translation People have an extensive track record in the translation of technical material for global manufacturers in sectors such as automotive, electronics, aerospace, IT and pharmaceuticals.

Our client portfolio includes:

- Andrew Corporation
- Finmeccanica

About Us

Any translation company worth its salt will tell you that it provides high quality translations carried out by native speakers, that it works with the latest technology and that it treats your material as confidential. We're no different. But we do believe that the calibre of our people gives us the edge over our competition.

As one of our clients, you'll have a direct line to an experienced account manager who will be your single point of contact. They'll identify your requirements, select and coordinate the appropriate resource team and ensure your project is delivered in the appropriate format, on time and on budget.

The Translation People act as the bridge between your message and your target readers using the appropriate style, terminology and local conventions for your chosen language. We know for example, that Cantonese can be written down in two different ways depending on the country in which it's spoken; that Urdu reads right to left and that there are no spaces between Thai words.

Our translators undergo a rigorous selection process, working only in subjects which match their qualifications and experience and translating exclusively into their native language so that the tone, style and terminology of the translation will be perfectly suited to your target audience.
